Overview

Ben Milloy is an associate in the corporate department at Fladgate.

He specialises in contentious and non-contentious matters relating to intellectual property, data protection and general commercial issues.

Ben acts for a number of clients across industries including publishing, advertising, technology, fashion, leisure and sports.

An example of the transactions on which he has advised is acting for distributor Glorious Brands on a recent agreement for the distribution of PUR cosmetics in the UK.

Ben joined Fladgate as a trainee in 2013, and qualified into the corporate department in 2015. Prior to that, he worked at the Press Complaints Commission, the former regulator of newspapers and magazines in the UK.
